

FCC, I am writing in reference to the new broadcast service that you have introduced, called LPFM. I understand that the new LPFM stations will take priority over FM translator stations. I am opposed to this for the following reasons:

I have been a listener of K-Love radio station, which is an FM translator radio station, for many years now. This is a Christian radio station that plays contemporary Christian music 24 hours a day with no commercials. No commercials because this is a listener supported station, in which I have been a supporter for the last 4-5 years.

K-Love is the only station in Okla. City that plays contemporary Christian music, and the music brings a spiritual, positive message, which has impacted many lives in the OKC area.

If K-Love was replaced by a LPFM station, those who rely on contemporary Christian music will be forced to listen to secular music, or be forced to buy Christian tapes or CD's to listen to in place of the radio station. Many people that listen to K-Love do not have CD players or cassettes in their vehicles or at home, which means many people will not be able to hear the great Christian music which is very uplifting. It will certainly put a void in many lives if K-Love is no longer able to broadcast as a translator station.

Sincerely,
Keith Sossamon
